SKETCHES OF LITTLE OLD NEW YORK

BY O. O. McINTYRE
Telegram Bureau: Rooms 121-122 Hotel Majestic, West Seventy-second Street.

NEW YORK, Oct. 31.—He was just a little grained old man. A satchel filled with snuff powder hung around his neck from a strap. He stood on Fifth avenue and always he smiled. I have seen him for years but not once have I seen him make a sale.

The other afternoon I stopped and chatted with him after making a five cent purchase. He became suspicious in a short time and showed his pedler's license. When he was certain I wasn't snooping around for the police he talked easily and well.

His command of English amazed me. He took from a tattered pocket a copy of Ruskin. That night he said he was going to Carnegie hall to hear a lecture on a deep scientific subject. He was graduated from a state university in the middle west and was once a man of brilliant hopes.

There came a time when he scribbled his future for a friend—a friend who had married his sister and had a family. Never have I heard such a story of loyalty. When he had finished he looked at me wistfully and inquired: "Under those circumstances what would you have done?"

I confessed that he played a part that was far beyond me. I do not go in much for heroes. I walked away and stopped down the avenue to talk to a man from central office.

"That fellow back there," I said pointing, "has a sob story that would make a Sunday page." "I don't know whether it is a sob story or not," was the reply, "but he is one of the finest little ex-crooks that ever cracked a crib. He can find his way around in almost any state prison in the country blindfolded. The only thing that keeps him straight is because he is watched day and night."

Some one is always fooling me in New York.

The wind was foxtrotting around a corner of a street in Yonkers the other morning. Roy McCardell, the humorist, was coming around the corner and his hat was swept from his head. He is a bit near sighted and after peering around thought he located the skylight in a nearby yard.

He hurled the fence and started after it, but each time he reached for it it took another sudden spurt. Finally a woman with her sleeves rolled up came out. "What are doing there?" she shrieked.

He explained as mildly as possible that he was trying his level best to retrieve his hat. "Your hat?" said the woman in wonder. "Well I don't know where it is, but I wish you'd quit chasing that black hen. She's got heart trouble as it is."

Miss Margaret Tuttle, erstwhile of Troy, but now of Gotham, may get over it but she will never be exactly the same. She is a pretty telephone girl at the Majestic and if a guest should ask her at midnight to send up a striped zebra with green ears she'd do her best to accommodate.

Things are so different in New York. Miss Tuttle was at work her first day when a guest said to her over the phone: "Please send up a horse's neck?" Miss Tuttle had heard of the gentlemen teases in New York and said: "Sure do want it curried?"—which was clever.

Finally the guest became alarmingly severe. "Please don't be impertinent. Send up a horse's neck I'm thirsty."

"Horse's neck—thirsty?" gasped Miss Tuttle her face blanching. Then she whispered to a fellow operator that the guest was off his conk"—literally translated in the Trojan she meant he was dippy. She became hysterical and she had to be sent

TAFT TELLS WHY HE IS FOR HUGHES

And Incidentally He Hands Woodrow Wilson Some Rather Hot Shots.

NEW YORK, Oct. 31.—Former President William H. Taft, answering an inquiry from Spokane, Wash., why he is on the stump for Hughes, telegraphed as follows:

"Mr. Wilson bases his claims to re-election on the prosperous condition of the country and on the special plea 'he kept us out of war.' The country is prosperous in spots because of the European war, for which Mr. Wilson is not responsible, which has given to our industries the protection of which his Underwood tariff bill deprived them and which has stimulated in unheard of measure the exportation of American products entering into the prosecution of the war operations of Europe. What our fate would have been under the Underwood tariff is shown by the devastation that accompanied the ten months of actual enforcement, the destruction of American industries, the pitiful condition of the unemployed, and the establishment of bread lines and free soup houses. The fictitious prosperity due to increased exports will collapse with the rapidity of a cable dispatch at the close of the war. When that crisis confronts this country, the Republican party and a man of courage and conviction, Charles Evans Hughes, must be on guard to meet and conquer it.

"Mr. Wilson did not keep us out of war. We kept out of the European war because we wanted none of its horrors and because none of the belligerents insisted on dragging us in, and he brought us into war with Mexico because his policy there from the beginning was one of officious intermeddling, which is responsible for the distressing situation now existing and which if not superseded by the sagacity and deep sense of justice that distinguishes Charles E. Hughes will inevitably drag us forward to even greater humiliation.

"Mr. Wilson deserves condemnation for his course of vacillation attributable in nearly every exigency to a desire for votes rather than a regard for the interests of all the people.

"Mr. Hughes deserves support as a man whose career shows that he translates conviction into action and that he is a man who will fight for principle. He is thoroughly equipped to safeguard American interests in this most critical period in American history since the days of the Civil war."

Good Old Home-Made Family Cough Remedy

Much Better than the Ready-Made Kind—Easily and Cheaply Prepared.

If you combined the curative properties of every known "ready-made" cough remedy, you would hardly have in them all the curative power that lies in this simple "home-made" cough syrup which takes only a few minutes to prepare.

Get from any druggist 2½ ounces of Pinex (50 cents worth), pour it into a pint bottle and fill the bottle with plain granulated sugar syrup. The total cost is about 84 cents and gives you a full pint of really better cough syrup than you could buy ready-made for $2.50. Tastes pleasant and never spoils.

This Pinex and sugar syrup preparation gets right at the cause of a cough and gives almost immediate relief. It loosens the phlegm, stops the nasty throat tickle and heals the sore, irritated membranes that line the throat, chest and bronchial tubes, so gently and easily that it is really astonishing. A day's use will usually overcome the ordinary cough and for bronchitis, croup, whooping cough and bronchial asthma, there is nothing better.

Pinex is a most valuable concentrated compound of genuine Norway pine extract, combined with guaiac and has been used for generations to break up severe coughs.

To avoid disappointment, be sure to ask your druggist for "2½ ounces of Pinex" with full directions, and don't accept anything else. A guarantee of absolute satisfaction or money promptly refunded, goes with this preparation. The Pinex Co., Ft. Wayne, Ind.

ENTERPRISING AND IN THE FULL STRENGTH OF ITS MANHOOD—

Said one of our friends: "I prefer for my part a bank that has outgrown the swaddling clothes and has not yet reached the lean and slippered pantaloon; one that has come up healthily, steadily, diligently, conservatively yet industriously—a sane bank—a clean bank—a bank that is considerate, careful, enterprising and in the full strength of its manhood. That is the kind of a bank I like to do business with."

Would not you also?
